Dear Donna:

Please accept my heartfelt appreciation for your generous, ongoing support of Valencia College and our students in 2012. To assist you with your tax planning, I have provided a summary of your annual contributions to Valencia Foundation.

With the current economic climate, many of our students are returning to Valencia to retool and retrain, to navigate and rejoin a competitive job market.

The prolonged impact of the recession is felt much more deeply in the lives of our students and their families.

But armed with relevant, transferrable skills, 10,000 students graduated in May.

The independent Aspen Institute recognized Valencia as the No. 1 community college nationally because of completion, job placement rates and starting salaries.

Graduates raise their family standard of living, helping to stabilize the local economy.

As a donor, your gift means more than simply a tuition payment or textbook. Your contribution demonstrates to a student that someone believes in her and is willing to invest in her success. Your philanthropy represents a life transformed and has the power to change the course of a family for generations to come.

I value your support of our mission, and trust that you will continue to give as generously as you are able.

As you plan your 2013 charitable giving, please consider continuing your investment in people and a place that returns $1 billion each year to Central Florida.

On behalf of my foundation board of directors and the students we are privileged to serve, please accept our sincere wish for a new year filled with abundance and joy.

Warmly,

Geraldine Gallagher, CFRE
President and CEO
